

Editorial

Embracing Interdisciplinary Exploration: Volume 9 (1)

Welcome to the 9th volume of Gantabya, a platform dedicated to fostering interdisciplinary research and collaboration across diverse fields of study. As editors of this multidisciplinary journal, we are thrilled to continue on this journey of discovery and innovation alongside our esteemed contributors and readers.

In today's rapidly evolving world, the boundaries between traditional academic disciplines are becoming increasingly blurred. The complex challenges we face, whether in science, technology, social sciences, or humanities, education, management, law among others often require holistic and interdisciplinary approaches for meaningful solutions. It is within this context that Gantabya emerges as a beacon of interdisciplinary exploration, where scholars from various backgrounds converge to exchange ideas, challenge assumptions, and push the boundaries of knowledge.

Our journal aims to break down silos and facilitate cross-disciplinary dialogue by providing a platform for researchers to share their insights, methodologies, and findings with a diverse audience. We believe that by fostering collaboration across disciplines, we can uncover new perspectives, spur innovation, and address pressing societal issues more effectively.

In each issue of Gantabya, readers can expect to find a rich tapestry of research articles, reviews, and perspectives spanning a wide range of disciplines. From cutting-edge scientific discoveries to nuanced analyses of social phenomena, our journal seeks to showcase the breadth and depth of interdisciplinary scholarship.

As we continue on this exciting venture, we extend our heartfelt gratitude to the researchers, reviewers, editorial board members, and staff who have contributed their time, expertise, and enthusiasm to make this journal a reality. We invite scholars from all disciplines to join us in this collaborative endeavor, as we work together to advance knowledge and make meaningful contributions to our collective understanding of the world.

Thank you for being a part of this journey. We look forward to the discoveries and insights that lie ahead.

Warm regards,

Chief Editor

Gantabya

September 2024