

Editorial

With innovation in material science, technologies, protocols and demand for predictable outcome, the horizon of Prosthodontic and Maxillofacial Rehabilitation has broaden in recent time. Increase public awareness though open and easy access information technologies has made further challenges for achieving evidence based practice and acceptable rehabilitation outcome.

Journal of Nepalese Prosthodontic Society (JNPS) intend to support this trend by publishing various research articles, review articles, case reports, clinical tips and feedbacks from its readers. Our objectives is to promote and aware all our researchers, clinicians, academicians and members of dental fraternity.

JNPS is proud to be indexed in different national and international indexing sites. This would be our initial steps to make this journal more evidence base. With inclusion of international editors, editorial team expects to get more support and international recognition.

As editor-in-chief, I would like to thank all the editorial team of JNPS, executive committee and members of NPS, publication house and other persons, associated directly or indirectly, for their hard work, support and constant encouragement during the process of publication of Volume 2, Number 1 issue of JNPS.
