

Editorial: Potentiality

We are delighted to say that we have entered two years with two volumes and three Issues. We believe that we served to come up with some new and innovative ideas and contributions. The role of the authors/researchers/contributors involved in the journey is worthy of praise. This journal family is grateful to all authors and contributors. We started with seven articles from different fields of disciplines in the first volume in 2023 February. After that, we were able to publish the special edition on 'governance, innovation, sustainable development'. It is our great pleasure that we got the articles from scholars outside Nepal as well. The present world has faced a lot of challenges in development sectors and every sector is searching for sustainability. At the same, every person has potential in some subjects, but they cannot share it. Our one motto is to explore such potentiality in light of sustainability and ultimately peace. A motivational approach to bringing new and innovative ideas and contributors is our primary objective. We are dedicated to walking on this journey with our vision. We hope for goodwill from everywhere.

Thanking You

Deepak Chaudhary
Chief Editor