Most of the economic indicators of Nepal are still downing seriously. The monetary status of central bank is also not satisfactory. When the popular government of Nepal Communist Party led by KP Oli was failed due to the many mishandling of governance mechanism, next government was not able to sit in driving position of Nepalese Economy. Peoples' confidence in investment is low due to the mishandling of ruling governments and alliances. Massive outflow of youth, based on remittance, unproductive expenses for provincial anatomy, unproductive view tower development infrastructures, etc. are the main reasons of present economic crisis. To lead the economy government must be able to win the confidence of people and youths. Government must be able to attract the investors with complete confidence with the security of investment and hassle free transparent government services. Then only development can lead the society.
