

Editorial

We are pleased to publicize that volume of Tejganga Darpanis successfully published. The untiring effort of the research committee members made the task possible. Publication of the volume is the outcome of the invaluable contribution of authors, reviewers, advisors, editorial team and the journal designers who contributed in publication process.

Research is the most important activity, which uplifts the higher education towards its optimum height. Tejganga Multiple Campus Research Management Cell (RMC) has been managing and fostering research activities in the Campus for a long time. Tejganga Darpan: A Peer- reviewed Multidisciplinary journal is the concrete outcome of the effort and dedication of the Tejganga Campus RMC along with the authors and reviewers. This journal aims to encourage faculties and educators to be engaged on research activities and to write articles continuously as their contributions in the field of research and publication. It provides professional development opportunities to the faculties and the novice scholar, who write mature their thinking patterns and project themselves in the community. As a multidisciplinary journal this volume of Tejganga Darpan includes the research-based and review articles from different disciplines including Linguistics, Literature, Education and Social Science written in English and Nepali. We believe, this journal provides research-based Knowledge to the teachers, learners and all the scholars who wants to grow academically, harnessing their regular responsibilities with research capabilities.

The entire RMC team is grateful to all the authors who showed enthusiasm to publish scholarly work in our journal; their contribution with articles without which this journal publication would not be successful. RMC extends its gratitude to all the reviewers for managing time out of their busy schedules to review our articles to improve the quality of our journal. Moreover, we are thankful to all the contributors and supporters who tried their best from their respective position to motivate and strengthen RMC to continue the publication tasks. We highly appreciate the readers' constructive feedback and committed to work better in the upcoming issues.

Reserch Management Cell (RMC)
Tejganga Multiple Campus, Kavre